AIR MAIL

Mr. E. H. Swick, Regional Engineer
Juneau, Alaska

May 24, 1957

G. H. Williams, Assistant Commissioner
Washington 25, D. C. J. BARNETT

We have noted that applicable specifications for Federal-aid projects in Alaska being received currently make reference to FP-41, the now discontinued Bureau's specification book, with modifications and special provisions.

It is assumed that these projects were in the process of preparation prior to issuance of the new Bureau's standard specification book FP-57. Where any subsequent projects are in preparation to be advertised and let to contract in the future, the FP-41 provisions should be discontinued and the FP-57 utilized. If it is found desirable or necessary to use special provisions in connection with the new book they should be kept to a minimum and limited to a project basis as far as possible.

The preparation of the Federal-aid projects where use of FP-57 and special provisions are concerned, should be kept reasonably consistent for similar usage on Federal Domain projects. If it becomes necessary to develop special provisions that will have rather constant use, we should be advised as to the reason for their use and they should be transmitted for review so that we may ascertain whether they will probably become so generally used that they may affect a future revision of the specification book.

Several errata that have general application are being evaluated. These will be sent to you in the near future for incorporation in proposals where they are applicable.
